Early American style of frame and wood siding and in good condition.

House was built about 1825 for Jonathan McFarland whose father, Daniel McFarland came from Adams, Massachusetts and settled a few miles south of this house in 1818. The house was inherited by a son of J. McFarland by the name of L. D. McFarland, and was deeded to L. D. McFarland, son of J. W. McFarland, who died in 1914 at the age of 58.

The property was sold to Mr. Sykes who now rents the property to G. A. Belnap.
